Consulting Service Contracts

Chapter 10 of the Laws of 2006 requires the collection and reporting of information related to contract employees working under State agency consulting service contracts. The law requires the Division of the Budget (DOB), the Office of the State Comptroller (OSC), and the Department of Civil Service (CS) to gather specific data related to procurement and consulting service contracts. The legislative intent was to provide for a comprehensive overview of the use of consultants in State agencies. Four reports are completed annually: the OSC Consultant Report, the OSC Procurement Stewardship Act Report, the Civil Service Chapter 10 Consultant Report, and the DOB Executive Budget Consulting Service Contracts Report.

The figures reported in the DOB Executive Budget Consulting Service Contracts Report include labor-related contract costs such as overhead, travel and fringe benefits, and in some cases, other non-personal service expenses. Accordingly, contract costs cannot be interpreted as representing only the compensation paid to contract employees.

In SFY 2013-14, as a result of efforts to address natural disasters, the Division of Homeland Security and Emergency Services estimates spending of nearly $$ 40$ million, which is primarily attributable to expediting and supporting Superstorm Sandy Recovery efforts. Funding was utilized to engage consultant services from Adjusters International (AI) to provide assessments for infrastructure damages caused by this natural disaster; such assessments are a critical, required component of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) program that reimburses State and local governments for disaster-related costs. The service level provided by Adjusters International is required to initiate and process Federal claims for reimbursement and typically occurs during the recovery from a storm.

The table below summarizes the overall consultant spending as estimated by State agencies. Overall, the spending is projected to decrease by almost 2 percent going into 2014-15.
